

Maximizing “As if it never were”

You who have been tracking with LifeSpring have heard us refer to the Merry Maids of Heaven – angels who provide cleanup of spiritual debris in people and places. They can handle all types of spiritual debris as well as things that have been obstructions.

Philippians 4:13 declares that “I can do ALL things through Christ who strengthens me.”

The Passion Translation reads, “I find that the strength of Christs’ explosive power infuses me to conquer every difficulty.”

The question is: “What are the ALL things?”

This is about sonship. The work that we're doing allows for all spiritual debris, all things that need to be cleaned up, to be cleaned up as we delegate through our sonship that Jesus died for.

Malcolm (a man in white who assists us) asked, “What is the significant use in these Merry Maids?”

We know that they clean up spiritual debris, but what else? We were about to learn.

The Amendment of As if it never were.

We had first learned about this amendment a few months before when dealing with a former employee and the debris the person had left behind in the ministry. Alicia, our Personnel Director asked concerning that situation if we wanted Heaven to make it “as if it never were”. We said, yes, whereupon she gave the folder to angel who then disappeared.

In the natural arena, the situation calmed down.

The next time we learned more of this, we shared it right after the new year in 2023. You can find the blog on CourtsOfHeavenWebinars.com.

A few months later, we were taught again about some of the implications of this powerful amendment. Heaven had said to us that this amendment was far more powerful than we were recognizing.

Heaven asked, “What is the amendment “As If It Never Were? Would you not consider that there’s an element of sweeping to be done?”

“In the amendment of “As if it never were”, what is the element?”

Heaven asked, “What is a filament?”

One type of filament is the thin wire inside of a light bulb.

Heaven asked, “What is a conduit?”

A conduit is the thing that something passes through.”

If all things work together through Christ that strengthens us, how would the element, the filament and the conduit work together?”

It provides an illumination. When you have an element, a filament, and a conduit, it brings light in the natural, right? The conduit allows the current to flow to the filament which then expresses to the element that is the light bulb.

Heaven asked another question, “Are you the light of the world?”

With that question, Stephanie realized that people are the element in this discussion. Then the question became what is the filament?

The answers were given through the example of a chess game.

The pieces are the element, the conduit is the movement of pieces on the board, while the filament is one’s willingness to play the game. By our very will we can choose or not to choose to be the reason for the agreement to be on board with the Father who is teaching us now by using a chess board!

Our very act of agreement is the filament with which all of Heaven can use to move the element.

What do the Merry Maid angels have to do with any of this?

It is by our act of agreement and choosing to utilize them to clean up the mess. We use these terms for the sake of understanding, however, it is an act of agreement and by your own will to clean up the generations, to undo a sin the minute you do it. So, agree!

I agree to be the element using my will, in agreement with Heaven, for Heaven to be the conduit into my life. I choose to co-labor with the Merry Maid angels as they clean up the debris in my life.

Let's talk about Jonah. Was it his very act of will to be put in the belly of a whale?

No. So where did his will come in?

He exercised His will when he chose to disobey and then the Father provided a way for him to change his mind and to do the will of the Father. The conduit (of the belly of the whale helped change his mind).

In this scenario, Jonah is the element. He went and did the work of the Lord. But the question is: Did he fulfill his destiny?

Stephanie noted that Jonah was mad afterward especially after God didn't destroy Nineveh.

Malcolm asked, "Wouldn't you say that would require some cleanup work?"

"Yes!" Stephanie replied.

Dr. Rodich's Input

Well, it all started about a month ago and I was sitting in my chair. I kept hearing, “the soul is more than you think”. And I'm going, well, okay. So, I go along my merry way, and I sit back in, and you know, after I do my studying for the evening and fall asleep, and I keep hearing this soul is more than you think. So. I have been on this journey, and I've had a lot of help from my wife, from Stephanie, from my friend Brian Jackson, and a couple of others too.

What we are finding out is the fact of how God put His hand into the elements of the earth. The order in which we made is very interesting. The soul was made before the body. That was that silver looking liquid that we spoke of a few weeks ago. That then attracted the elements of the earth that became man's skin. We said, “Okay, that's fine, but the soul isn't lit up yet.” Well, that happened when it says that God breathed. (Now just kind of a funny side point, God doesn't need to breathe.)

So, when He expresses whatever would be considered his breath it has all kinds of design and blueprints and glory and fire and all kinds of stuff with it. So, he breathes into Adam and gives him the operating system. So basically, the body was in place, the soul was in place and breathes into Adam. Then the lights up and the operating systems on. It's kind of like the first time when you plug your computer in and charge it and you push it for the first time and everything powers up and it's like, “Okay, we are ready to go.”

I'm not going to get ahead of myself because what we're looking at is we're trying to define a lot of the damage that has taken place in the soul that created the mess that a lot of us find ourselves in.

If I used the term fracturing, everybody would go, “Oh yeah, you know, that's somebody that's got DID or they've been in Satanic Ritual Abuse But if we accept anything that isn't the design of our personal spirit? We're fractured. Whoops! Even the good stuff. Whoops!

What we discovered was that even if you wipe the slate clean, which I did, (and I walked around like a zombie for two days because I couldn't figure out who I was. But that was just, that's another story which I think is kind of funny).

Suddenly we told talk about bringing our spirit forward, that is who we really are. So, then we find out that our soul and our body serve another reason, and that's to be the demonstrated ambassadors for God's kingdom, but also his emotional or quantum emotional realm and everything that he is. We're supposed to be ambassadors, but we cannot be effective if we've got all these other filters and static and everything going on. So, I've been working through a lot of stuff and with a great deal of success.

And then just a couple of days ago I said, Lord, there's still some stuff going on, but I can't pin it down. It does it qualifies any of the stuff that we've been learning. And suddenly he showed me, in this case, he was speaking to me about my body. But the same thing goes true for the soul is, you can get rid of the trauma, you can get rid of the energy factors, you can say all the denouncement prayers, and they work. It all works.

Memory

Organs can retain memory. Have any of you heard the story that a person had a heart transplant that came from somebody who was murdered. The memory of that murder, and what the people looked like was imprinted on the heart so that when the person that received the transplant testified in court. The judge accepted that, and the criminals were convicted them of murder.

So, if the heart can retain memory, we know that the digestive system can. It's likely several of our other organs can. You say, "Well, Rodich, I've been prayed for a million times. Well, what if we have been healed, but the one thing left is the memory. The same thing goes for the soul. You do all this work, God's there, the angels are there, everything's there, but you've got to clean up the memories.

And so that's kind of the newest, and latest. I'm sure there'll be other things the Lord will show us. What if the healing was there? But because there were other factors that we didn't know at that moment, the healing didn't manifest. Getting those cleanup angels to help you with the memories, could be that breakthrough that you've been waiting through for a long, long time?

This morning, in my journaling time, Heaven shared this with me:

You have learned a little about the amendment of As If It Never Were, but so much more is to be learned. Heaven alluded to that months ago, but you were not yet ready to receive it. I have uncovered some things for Doc because he was seeking to understand and that has led you to a new place in your understanding of how this can be applied to cellular memory and memories of the soul and spirit.

Each has memories that can either enhance things or hinder things in your life. When your soul, for example, holds memories of disappointment due to perceived unanswered prayers, those memories will try to dictate the application of faith in your life in the future. It will try to dictate whether one will come into agreement with Heaven or not.

For instance, as in past cases you have worked with, the body realm is under great disappointment because it thinks God did not keep His promise. But Numbers 23:19 plainly describes the integrity of the Father. It is reiterated in Matthew 7 when Jesus said, “if you ask, you receive.” Neither the Father, nor Jesus have gone back on their promise. The prayers have been answered, but the receipt of the answer has been hindered. The soul has limited the receipt of the provision, the healing, the promise based on memories from the past.

Hebrews 6:17-19

<sup>17</sup> Thus God, determining to show more abundantly to the heirs of promise the immutability of His counsel, confirmed it by an oath,

<sup>18</sup> that by two immutable things, in which it is impossible for God to lie, we might have strong consolation, who have fled for refuge to lay hold of the hope set before us.

<sup>19</sup> This hope we have as an anchor of the soul, both sure and steadfast, and which enters the Presence behind the veil,

It has clung to those memories to make them trophies of failure and excuses for why the Father did not come through when He did. His response came from Heaven into your realm, but because you have not understood the power of realm memories to hinder things flowing into your life.

When Paul wrote “You have the mind of Christ” he was inferring one of the aspects of the mind of Christ is that realm related memories were not limiters to the supply of Heaven.

He never prayed a prayer that was not answered. Neither have you. The teaching that God answers every prayer – sometimes yes and sometimes no, is built on the disappointment in the soul or body (usually the soul) to what it perceives as unanswered prayers. No, I promised if you asked, you would receive. You have built theologies and belief systems that are outside the Word based on your experiences or perceived experiences you have had.

Remember the story of the crippled man at the Pool of Bethesda? His memories of past failures were affecting his motivation to keep trying.

John 5:1-9

<sup>3</sup> Hundreds of sick people were lying there on the porches—the paralyzed, the blind, and the crippled, all of them waiting for their healing.

<sup>4</sup> For an angel of God would periodically descend into the pool to stir the waters, and the first one who stepped into the pool after the waters swirled would instantly be healed.

<sup>5</sup> Now there was a man who had been disabled for thirty-eight years lying among the multitude of the sick.

<sup>6</sup> When Jesus saw him lying there, he knew that the man had been crippled for a long time. So, Jesus said to him, “Do you truly long to be healed?”

<sup>7</sup> The sick man answered him, “Sir, there’s no way I can get healed, for I have no one who will lower me into the water when the angel comes. As soon as I try to crawl to the edge of the pool, someone else jumps in ahead of me.”

<sup>8</sup> Then Jesus said to him, “Stand up! Pick up your sleeping mat and you will walk!”

<sup>9</sup> Immediately he stood up—he was healed! So, he rolled up his mat and walked again!

His body realm was so disappointed that he had not been able to get into the water in time, that he had all but given up.

Hope deferred makes a heart sick.... (Prov 13:12)

Doc is compiling more information on this, so we aren’t going to unpack it yet...but soon.

.....

Back to the Merry Maids.

So how do we use this practically?

- Repent where we have redefined our belief system to explain our experiences.
- Repent where we have judged the Father in His perceived handling of our situations.
- Repent where we have become the Father’s judge AND
- Repent where we have become other’s judges when they would not change their faith expression to go along with us.

When you have done a lot of the work generationally, the spiritual debris that's left behind can use some cleanup and the “Amendment of ‘As If It Never Were’” is the means with which you do that. You can instruct the angels (some call them the Merry Maid angels), to clean up the spiritual debris as the “Amendment as if it never were” is being implemented.

This is necessary because, even though you’ve done the generational work, you still have residue from the decisions and will of men involved. This provides a way to fully clear things up. It’s all about the unveiling and unpacking. This is a piece.

Let’s commission the angels to this:

I call the Merry Maids of Heaven regarding all the things that are on record, of where I have done the repentance work, the lineage work, the generational work, and I request the amendment of As If It Never Were. I request that they clean up the spiritual debris, burn it, and give it to Jesus, in Jesus' name.
